"Blue Book" Blasts Bring New U. S.-Argentine Tension

Formal Diplomatic Break is Possible; Peron is Principal Target

Washington, Feb. 13—(AP)—The state department blast at key Argentine leaders as wartime pawns of nazi Germany hastened a fresh crisis today in the already badly-strained relations between the United States and Argentina.

Whether a formal break in diplomatic ties will result remained an open question.

Secretary of State Byrnes told reporters the United States does not intend to follow up its "Blue Book" attack on the military rulers of Buenos Aires with any single nation action against Argentina. But at least two members of the senate foreign relations committee indicated they expect further diplomatic steps eventually.

Published in Part

Dispatches from the Argentine capital disclosed that at least part of the Blue Book indictment had been published there, and these dispatches speculated on the likelihood of curtailed relations.

(In Buenos Aires, the Argentine cabinet was reported in session at the presidential residence early today on the heels of the U. S. accusation.)

Col. Juan Peron, Argentina's strong man and current presidential candidate, refrained in a campaign speech last night from mentioning the "Blue Book" which included assertions that the nazis had been allowed to set up in Argentina "a complete duplicate of the economic structure for war" which they had in Germany.

Peron Hits at Braden

However, Peron did assail U. S. Assistant Secretary of State Spruille Braden for what he called "insolent intervention" in Argentina's affairs.

It is no secret at the State department that the big hope behind the 131-page "Blue Book" is that it will exert an unfavorable effect on Peron's presidential aspirations in the coming national elections on Feb. 24.

The "Blue Book" was made up in large part of nazi documents captured by the American army in Germany. These documents, the State department said, furnish "proof positive" of Argentine "complicity with the enemy".

Amboy Man Active in State Aviation Parley

Chicago, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The proposed registration of pilots' federal licenses, certificates and permits by the state department of aeronautics, witnesses at a department hearing said, will "hinder the progress of aviation" in Illinois.

Paul S. Love of Chicago, president of the Illinois Air Pilots Association and chief spokesman for civilian fliers and owners of private airports present at the hearing, told department officials yesterday:

"In time to come, it will be quite a burden on the people who are flying to maintain a state aviation governing body as well as the CAA (Civil Aeronautics Administration of the Federal government.")

Referring to a $1 registration fee which the state department proposes to place on civil aeronautics certificates and ratings, Love declared that "once the power to tax is implied, it is difficult to check."

Donald E. Blodgett, of Amboy, hearings officer, said registration would enable the state to exercise necessary controls and provide needed statistics.

Indian Riot Injures 18 U. S. Soldiers, Report

Calcutta, Feb. 13.—(AP)—British troops quieted rioting Hindus and Moslems in Calcutta today as the city's second outbreak of destruction within two and a half months subsided after taking a toll of at least 22 dead and more than 200 injured. The soldiers were in complete control of the city.

The troops were called in last night after R. G. Casey, governor of Bengal, declared in a broadcast "the situation is such that I have asked the army to come to the assistance of the civil power in order that order may be restored in Calcutta as quickly as possible."

(Earlier Associated Press dispatches erroneously interpreted Casey's statement as a declaration of martial law.)

The rioting was in protest against the seven-year sentence passed on an officer of the Japanese-sponsored "Indian National Army."

Yesterday's injured included 18 U. S. soldiers and 20 policemen.

Homma Relieved on Learning He'll Not Meet Gallows Fate

Manila, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma, Bataan Death March commander, was so relieved in learning that he would be shot instead of hanged that he relaxed and slept during the ride to prison where he awaits execution.

He had feared ignoble death on the gallows, like that decreed for Lt .Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, reported Maj. Larry Hodgin, Twin Falls, Ida., the military police officer who rode with Homma from Manila to Luzon prison camp No. 1.

Homma evidently had not understood the sentence as it was read in court:

"He asked me, 'Major, what did they find me guilty of?'" Hodgin told interviewers today. Hodgin gave him a sealed envelope containing the court findings that he had condoned countless trocities. Homma donned spectacles and read the copy from beginning to end.

"When he got down to the penalty, shooting," Hodgin said, "He remarked:

"'Oh, that's good. They're not going to hang me. That (shooting) is an honorable death.'"

Whereupon he put away his spectacles, leaned back in the car and went to sleep.

Truman Formula May Ease Price Controls, Report

Washington, Feb. 13—(AP)—A high government official predicted today President Truman's new wage-price policy aimed at restoring industrial peace will ease price controls without clamping a rigid lid on wages.

The formula, subject of day and night White House conferences, reportedly is "just about set". But the official, who could not be quoted by name, expressed some uncertainty as to the reaction it will receive from labor and industry—particularly labor—unless further revisions are made.

Part of the pressure for a quick decision on the long pending issue apparently stems from a purported refusal by Stabilization Administrator John C. Collet to approve higher steel prices in the absence of the authority the new wage-price policy would give him.

Approval Predicted

A top-ranking federal executive regarded as a key figure in the national economic picture, said Collet will approve the steel price boost as soon as Truman issues the formal backing.

The stabilization chief argued with other White House aides, this official said, that the legality of the increase could be questioned unless it were preceded by a formula which could be applied to industry generally.

The official added that the administration is certain the steel hike, reportedly around $5 a ton, will permit the industry to boost wages and send some 750,000 striking CIO steel workers back to their jobs at 18½ cents more an hour.

The decision against a flat percentage ceiling on wages was made yesterday, it was learned, thus removing one of the prime obstacles to settlement of the wage-price policy debate.

Harrisburg, Ill., Feb. 13—(AP)—John Johnson, 15-year-old eighth grader, turned the tables on his teacher today by taking his home work to school to be solved.

Fred Armistead, principal, complied with Johnson's appeal for help—by computing the boy's federal income tax.

New York City's Closing Order is Revoked by Mayor

Philadelphia's Transit Strike Ends; Power for Pittsburghers

(By The Associated Press)

The end of crippling strikes in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia and revocation of New York City's closure order brought some measure of relief today to the nation's industrial strife.

Settlement of the work stoppages by power and transit workers and lifting the shutdown edict in the world's greatest city came after a day of inconvenience and confusion to most of the millions living in the three large eastern cities, the most hectic day along the labor front in the post war period.

While New York City resumed near normal operations of its commercial, industrial and amusement activities after 18 hours of paralysis, the labor dispute which was the cause of the shutdown remained unsettled.

And immediately, there were no indications of an end of the 10-day strike of 3,500 AFL tugboat workers, whose walkout caused a drastic fuel shortage and brought about Mayor William O'Dwyer's shutdown order. The union has agreed to submit the wage-hour dispute to arbitration but tugboat owners have not as yet reached agreement among themtion of the issues that led to the selves on procedure for arbitrawalkout.

Pittsburgh's Lights On

In Pittsburgh, 3,400 employes of the Duquesne Light Co., went back to their jobs after a 19-hour work stoppage in a dispute over wages. The strike, which threatened a complete power failure in the Greater Pittsburgh industrial area, affected some 1,500,000 residents of nearly 100 communities. In Pittsburgh, street cars were halted, schools closed, homes darkened and thousands of workers kept idle.

The strike ended upon agreement to establish a three-man board to mediate the wage dispute. The strikers (independent) demanded a 20 per cent wage increase while the company offered

Captured Document Shows Hitler Had Eyes on Gibraltar

Nuernberg, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler planned quick conquests of Turkey, Syria, Iran, Egypt and Gibraltar as soon as his armies had disposed of Russia in lightning thrusts, Soviet prosecutors told the international military tribunal today.

Completing their detailed recital of nazi aggression toward the east, the Russians submitted to the tribunal a captured German naval staff document dated Aug. 8, 1941, outlining the fuehrer's ideas.

Because he was confident the utter collapse of the Red army was near, Hitler had directed that "Plan Felix"—the seizure of Gibraltar—must be executed before the end of 1941 with Spanish aid, the Russians said.

Documents previously introduced by American and British prosecutors had quoted nazi officials as saying the Spaniards had proposed to enter the war by a surprise attack on the Rock.

The drive south toward Suez and Egypt through Turkey was to be accompanied, prosecutors told the tribunal, by an all-out effort to smash the British garrison then holding out at Tobruk and by a new offensive into Egypt from Libya.

Binnacle Lovers, Here Is Your Opportunity; 1,591 Put on Sale

Washington, Feb. 13—(AP)—Binnacle lovers, this is your opportunity.

The Maritime Commission has 1,591 binnacles (no relation to barnacles) it's aching to get rid of.

And it's willing to turn them loose for $9.20 each. If you'll take 25 or more, they're $4.95 apiece. Think of that.

The binnacle (aside to landlubbers: It's a cozy bungalow for compasses) is just one of the hundreds of articles listed in the commission's new monthly sales catalog of war surpluses.

Most mail order houses still have to admit their shelves are pretty bare. But the commission has stuff running out its portholes.

"It's easy to do business with the Maritime commission!" brags the catalog. "Fixed prices! Direct action! Fair dealings"

If the binnacles don't tempt you, how about a few quick shots of anchor chain, at $46 a shot? The chain comes in assorted sizes, and each shot is 90 feet long.

Maybe you live on a farm. Maybe you've dreamed of an engine to crank the grindstone, or the churn.

The commission may have just the thing in its 600-horsepower Diesel job. Don't be alarmed at the $39,000 price tag. The commission says reassuringly that it's a "very reliable engine".

Or perhaps you're tired of lifting things, and are interested in a steel crane barge.

If you are, you'll have to hurry. Only 13 are left, so step right up, folks. But please have the change—$74,160—ready.

The list is almost endless for bargain hunters. Cargo barges, assault boats, hand capstans, rope fenders, winches, pilot house window sets . . .

But the commission still has quite a way to go before it becomes a real hit with housewives. One hundred and nine bargain filled pages, but—

Not a word about nylons.

Nelson Woman, Two Children, Narrowly Escape Tragic Fate

Presence of mind of Mrs. William Elgin, who lives on a farm just east of Nelson village, undoubtedly saved her two children and herself from death or serious injury when the automobile which she was driving, with the youngsters as passengers, stalled on the Chicago & NorthWestern grade crossing just east of the coal chutes in Nelson at 6:15 o'clock Tuesday evening. As the car pulled onto the crossing the engine died as a westbound freight train was bearing down on it. Mrs. Elgin ordered the children out of the car and off the right of way, and when her efforts to start the auto failed, she too reached safety in flight. The automobile, which was carried on the pilot of the freight locomotive for about 600 feet, was demolished.

Speeches Honor Lincoln Memory Across Country

(By The Associated Press)

The memory of Abraham Lincoln was honored yesterday in hundreds of traditional Lincoln Day speeches by Republican party leaders and in many non-partisan ceremonies which were part of the nation's tribute to a great American president.

Former President Herbert Hoover, speaking at the 60th annual Lincoln Day dinner in New York City, asserted both major parties had "straddled" the dominant issue before the nation's citizens—the issue of "free men against the tide of statism which is sweeping three-quarters of the world".

Others who spoke at the dinner were Gov. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania and novelist Louis Bromfield.

Herbert Brownell, Jr., chairman of the Republican national committee, said in a broadcast that "we are in another period of peril and uncertainty and it would be well if we had another Lincoln in the White House".

Three United States senators, two representatives, the chairman of the Federal Communications commission and General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower costarred in a televised broadcast from the Capitol and the Lincoln Memorial, where Eisenhower laid a wreath.

At Boston former Governor Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota told a Lincoln Day audience that resumption of full production would now require "a general change in the prict structure". He said a price structure change should be worked out quickly.

There were addresses at Lincoln's tomb in Springfield, Ill., and at Kansas City Senator Taft (R-Ohio) expressed concern over the wave of strikes.

Liquor Ration System Proposed for Country

Chicago, Feb. 13—(AP)—A ration card for the purchase of alcoholic beverages which would "automatically deny the holder of one-fourth of the eggs, milk, butter, pork, beef and mutton he would otherwise obtain" was suggested by the American Businessmen's Research Foundation, of Chicago, today.

In a telegram to Secretary of Agriculture Anderson, signed by Fred D. L. Squires, secretary of the foundation, the organization said that the grain still allowed brewers and distillers, even under new restrictions, would diminnsh the amount of milk, butter, eggs, poultry and meat "available to the American dinner table", as well as affect the making of white bread except in necessary hospitalized cases.

British War Alert Reported Given to U. S. Hawaiian Army

Lucas Wants Check of All Messages Received There in 1941

Washington, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Senator Lucas (D-Ill) demanded a check today on all messages received in the last days before the Pearl Harbor attack.

Apparently, he told reporters, at least some information was available in the islands that was not on hand in Washington.

Heretofore, the senate-house committee investigating the 1941 naval disaster has heard contentions that Washington failed to share some of its information with the Hawaiian commanders.

Lucas' comment was based on the testimony of former Lt. Col. Henry C. Clausen, who told the committee yesterday of a war alert sent by a British secret agent in Manila and made available on Dec. 3, 1941, to Army Intelligence in Hawaii.

Report in Record

Clausen conducted a war department inquiry into the disaster in 1944. He traveled around the world getting affidavits from various officers. His report and accompanying affidavits were made part of the committee record yesterday.

Lucas cited in particular one message.

It was from the British secret agent, Col. Gerald Wilkinson, and said, after a discussion of Japanese movements in the Far East: "It is our considered opinion that Japan envisages early hostilities with Great Britain and the United States."

Clausen added he had learned that Wilkinson's conclusion was based on intercepted Japanese messages, decoded by the project known as "Magic."

"Yet nobody in Washington apparently saw it," Lucas told reporters.

State Mineral Stores Said in Good Shape

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 13.—(AP)—The State Geological survey said today that with the exception of fluorspar and petroleum, Illinois has no immediate mineral problems following wartime demands on reserve supplies.

Dr. M. M. Leighton, chief of the survey, said the war generally did not ravage the state's mineral reserves.

Leighton said, however, present fluorspar deposits will not last more than a few decades. Annual production from 1940 to 1944 averaged 155,000 tons, compared with 63,000 tons in the 1935-39 period.

Petroleum production, which reached its peak in 1940 with 147,000,000 barrels, declined to 74,000,000, or about one-half, in 1945. The rate of decline, however, has leveled off and will be more gradual in the future, Leighton reported.

"Illinois will be producing oil, though probably less and less, for many years to come," he said.

Temporary Offices of United Nations Voted to New York

London, Feb. 13.—(AP)—A United Nations Assembly committee voted overwhelmingly today to establish temporary United Nations headquarters in New York City.

The committee rejected a proposal that the temporary site should be in San Francisco.

The action puts the site question up to the whole assembly.

The Westchester-Fairfield area of New York state and Connecticut had previously been recommended by the committee as permanent United Nations headquarters.

One other top issue, the Indonesian question, remained to be settled by the Security Council before the United Nations could adjourn its current meeting, Trygve Lie, secretary-general, was reported to have expressed the opinion the assembly would wind up its business by Friday night.

New York "Sleep" Cost to Industries Nearly $9,000,000

New York, Feb. 13—(AP)—New York city, which for 18 hours yesterday was as quiet as a country hamlet, roared back to its normal spirited pace today following revocation of a fuel-saving edict that imposed the most drastic business shutdown in the city's history.

Just as suddenly as it had come, the order clamping a lid on all but essential activities was lifted last night by Mayor William O'Dwyer who said the fuel crisis had abated and that the city now was assured of a sufficient flow to meet essential requirements.

The cause of it all—a 10-day strike of 3,500 tugboat workers in New York harbor—remained unsettled, however, and a rationing program invoked last week still was in effect. Schools, too, remained closed.

Otherwise, the city quickly swung back to normalcy. Thousands of commuters again jammed subways, buses and trains to get to offices from which most of them were barred yesterday. Transit lines whose operations had been curtailed 20 per cent. were operating full blast in time for the morning rush.

Busy Times Square was alive with pedestrian and vehicular traffic as early as 8:30 a. m. (EST).

Office workers, thousands of whom were thrown into confusion yesterday by the mayor's proclamation, gathered in groups on sidewalks outside their building ahead of opening time and talked about the shutdown.

A big question was whether they would get paid for not working

Sterling Firm's Proposal Turned Down by CIO Head

Milwaukee, Feb. 13—(AP)—Meyer Adelman, district director of the CIO United Steelworkers, has rejected a proposal by the Northwestern Steel & Wire Co. of Sterling Ill., that employes of the firm return to work immediately, pending settlement of the nationwide steel strike.

Under the proposal: Adelman said, Northwestern agreed to wage increases equaling those which would be granted by the majority of the other steel companies, provided Northwestern employes return to their jobs at once.

Adelman, who will explain the proposal to Northwestern employes in Sterling tonight, said he had rejected the plan because there was no definite indication, as yet, as to what increase a majority of the other firms will give.

The proposal provided, he added, that the increases would take effect on the same date as that set for other steel companies, with a six cents differential to be maintained between rates paid by the Sterling firm and others in the Chicago area.

Sales Tax Levies Can Be Taken Off All Income Taxes

Chicago, Feb. 13—(AP)—The Illinois Federation of Retail Associations said today that Illinois taxpayers, in figuring federal taxes on 1945 income, may deduct as an expense amounts added to their purchases because of the Illinois 2 per cent occupation or sales tax.

Sales tax slips or receipts on 1945 purchases are not necessary, the association said, if deductions claimed are "reasonable". The association issued the following unofficial chart showing "reasonable" deductions on various incomes which probably would be accepted by the internal revenue department:

Income	Single	Married	Married, 1 Child	Married 2 Children
$1,000	$ 8	...	...	...
$1,500	$12	$17	$22	$25
$2,000	$16	$23	$30	$33
$2,500	$20	$26	$34	$38
$3,000	$24	$32	$41	$46
$3,500	$28	$37	$48	$54
$4,000	$37	$43	$55	$61
$4,500	$42	$48	$62	$69
$5,000	$51	$54	$69	$77
$5,500	$56	$59	$76	$84
$6,000	$61	$64	$83	$92

Nigel Campbell, collector of Internal Revenue, said the government can not recognize any such table of deductions officially, noting that each income tax return is an individual proposition.

Deduction for sales tax is lawful, however, and Campbell said the government does recognize a "reasonable" deduction without requiring sales tax slips or receipts.

Movie Labor Groups Threaten New Strike

Hollywood, Feb. 13—(AP)—Clouds gathered again today in the troubled movie labor picture, as the head of the powerful Conference of Studio Unions hinted strongly at a new strike, possibly by next Monday, unless demands are met for a cut in hours at no loss of pay.

Said Herbert K. Sorrell, CSU chief:

"If our demands are not met, or the studios do not show good faith in negotiations by Saturday, we will take action. And by taking action, I mean strike".

Sorrell's group, which includes eight trade and five professional unions, conducted a seven-month strike last year, culminating in bloody violence at Warner brothers' studio in October.

This time Sorrell—in conferences with producers which started Monday—is demanding the same pay for 36 hours now given for 48, plus four hours' overtime.

Hunt for Army Plane on Lake is Abandoned

Columbus, O., Feb. 13—(AP)—Search for a Chicago-bound army training plane, missing with three men since last Friday, has been abandoned by the army air force and Coast Guard cutters patroling Lake Michigan.

Key listed those aboard the missing trainer as 1st Lt. Charles R. Twomley, Woodstock, Ill; 1st Lt. Robert W. Schumacher, Watertown, Wis., and Pfc James R. Scott, Wausau, Wis.

Uncle Sam May Force Sharp Cut in Poultry Flocks to Save Wheat

Washington, Feb. 13—(AP)—Drastic government steps may be taken soon to force a sharp cut in poultry flocks as one means of helping feed hungry people abroad.

One of the reasons the United States suddenly discovered that its stocks of wheat are too low to keep up present domestic consumption and still meet export commitments is that large amounts of the grain have been diverted into poultry feeds.

To stop such feeding of wheat, the agriculture department may issue an order forbidding its use in the manufacture of mixed feeds.

Such an order is being considered by department officials in connection with President Truman's wheat conservation directive last week. At that time the chief executive ordered action by government agencies to place Americans on dark flour and bread, to prohibit the use of wheat in making beer and whiskey, and to discourage its use as a livestock feed.

In addition to the possible poultry feed order, the agriculture department also is considering steps to limit the commercial output of baby chicks.

Even in poultry flocks are reduced in line with government recommendations, there should be an abundant supply of eggs during the late winter, spring and early summer. These are the seasons of peak egg production per chicken.

On the other hand, egg supplies would be much less plentiful next fall and winter.

Truman Accepts Action ---Resignation Effective February 15th

Washington, Feb. 13—(AP)—Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes resigned today with an assertion that President Truman had challenged his veracity after telling him to be "as gentle as you can with Ed. Pauley".

The old line New Dealer and self-styled "Curmudgeon" stepped out of the cabinet after 13 years' service as a direct result of the controversy over Truman's nomination of Edwin W. Pauley, California oil man, to be undersecretary of the Navy.

Ickes has testified Pauley made him the "rawest" kind of a proposition involving funds for the Democratic campaign and Truman has said Ickes could be mistaken.

In a blistering, 2,000 word letter, Ickes told Truman he had spoken the truth about Pauley before a senate committee, had no apologies and asserted the president had no right to pass judgment on his veracity.

Told of Invitation

At last week's cabinet meeting, Ickes related, he informed Truman that he had been asked to testify. He asserted the president told him "you must tell the truth, of course".

Then Ickes quoted the president as saying: "Be as gentle as you can with Ed, Pauley."

"I said, 'I will'", Ickes told reporters.

Ickes wrote in the letter that Truman had made his position as a cabinet member "untenable" by siding with Pauley against him.

"I cannot stay on when you, in effect, have expressed lack of confidence in me", Ickes told the president.

Ickes asked to be relieved March 31. But Truman made the resignation effective Friday, Feb. 15. The President's letter of acceptance was not made public.

Chapman to Take Over

The president designated Oscar L. Chapman, a Coloradoan who has served 13 years as an asssitant secretary, to take over Ickes' duties pending the appointment of a permanent secretary.

Ickes' 2,000-word letter of resignation said of his testimony in opposition to the nomination of Pauley:

"I cannot accept the theory that I should have told the senate naval affairs committee anything less than the truth. I have no apologies for having done so, although I did regret the unhappy personal position in which I have involuntarily found myself".

Ickes told the committee that Pauley had advanced the "rawest proposition ever made to me" by suggesting that $300,000 could be raised in campaign contributions from California oil men if the government would drop its suit to establish federal title to oil-bearing tidewater lands.

Calls Truth "Resented"

This Pauley denied, saying Ickes was mistaken. The president, too, told a press conference that Ickes could be wrong, and this provided the springboard for the 71-year-old secretary's resignation.

Ickes wrote that some of Truman's friends "resent keenly the fact" that "I told the truth", then added:

"As to your statement that I might have been mistaken in my testimony my feeling is that, since you were not present at the hearing and presumably had not read the record, it was not proper for you, even although you be the president of the United States, to pass judgment on a question of veracity between Mr. Pauley and myself. After all, I am a member of your cabinet at your own request and I do not have a reputation of dealing recklessly with the truth. x x x."

"Gnats Already Swarming"

At the outset, Ickes apologized for the length of his letter but said he felt he owed Truman and the country "a full explanation" x x x "in view of the evidence that the political gnats in Washington are already swarming".

White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters, in response to questions, that Ickes quit of "his own accord". Ross met newsmen shortly after Chapman, designated as acting secretary, conferred at the White House with Truman.

Asked whether Pauley's nomination would be withdrawn as a

Shippers, Tourists Await Decisions on Return of Shipping

UMA to Dissolve; Many Vessels to be Turned Back to Lines

New York, Feb 13—(AP)—The American shipping industry and countless millions of people thinking about vacation plans are anxiously awaiting developments in London which will determine to a great extent when the shipping world can resume peacetime operations.

Final plans for the dissolution on March 2 of the United Maritime authority which acted during the war in a capacity similar to the joint chiefs of staff in formulating operating policies of the great allied shipping pool, will be completed by the 17 allied member nations. The UMA will decide how many ships each nation will get back and how many will continue to be required to fulfill needs of the respective governments in their relations with the balance of the world—and for how long.

U. S. Has Most

The 17 nations involved in the pool have nearly 75,000,000 tons of shipping at stake. There are 9,499 vessels ranging from slow tankers and small freighters to large luxury liners. The U. S. tops the list with 5529 vessels. Britain was second with 1,771.

Following dissolution of the UMA, the War Shipping Administration—a federal agency which still controls American merchant ships—will release to private owners "as soon as possible" their ships now on requisition to the pool. Capt. Granville Conway, deputy administrator of the War Shipping administration, recently declared that "You can't chop off the UMA overnight. If you do chaos will result."

Reconversion is Slow

Limited or full reconversion of the former passenger liners will require four months to a year, after they are released from the pool. However, labor strikes and delays in receipt of materials may prolong this period.

Travel agents and shipping lines in New York and other ports, while accepting passenger bookings far in advance, warn that too many current uncertainties prevent any definite scheduling of future sailing dates.

One steamship line executive declared: "We have no ships, no rates and no itinerary but we'll be back in business as soon as some of our ships are released from the pool."

The British government has announced elimination of its passenger priority system but also warns that travelers to Europe may experience delay in obtaining return passage.

Smoke Alarmed Family—

The Dixon fire department community truck was called to the farm home of Albert Krehmke, eight miles southwest of Dixon at about 8:00 o'clock this morning when members of the family became alarmed as the house began filling up with smoke. The firemen found a defective chimney had allowed the smoke to escape into the dwelling. There was no fire.

Governor Green Here Today—

Governor Dwight H Green of the state of Illinois was in Dixon for a short time this afternoon for a conference with officials of Dixon and Sterling and the Thirty-fifth senatorial district over the proposed new highway between Dixon and Sterling. The meeting was to be held in the office of Mayor Wm. V. Slothower of Dixon and is also being attended by Mayor Ronald Shawger of Sterling, Senator Dennis Collins of DeKalb and Representatives George Shaw of Dixon, George Brydia of Prophetstown and Henry White of Somonauk.

Youths Held in Princeton—

Princeton Ill., Feb. 13—(AP)—Three youths who Sheriff Frank W. Grisell said escaped from the Dixon state hospital were held today on automobile larceny and burglar charges after their capture while they were running through a field near Elmira. The youths were listed as Raymond Rinaudo, 17, of Chicago, Charles Richards, 15, of route 3, Rockford, and Carroll Noel, Jr., 15, of Moline. The sheriff said they were charged with taking candy and cigarettes from a filling station at Ohio, Ill., Tuesday, and stealing an auto in Oregon, Ill. and another in Tiskilwa.

The dingo or wild dog is said to have migrated to Australia from Asia more than 2,000 years ago.

Dental Group Hears Ammonia Halts Decay

Chicago, Feb. 13—(AP)—Four University of Illinois scientists today described the use of ammonia—not the household variety—as a possible means of preventing tooth decay.

Dr. Robert G. Kesel of Aurora, a staff member of the university's dental college, in a paper prepared for the Chicago Dental society's annual meeting, announced the discovery of ammonia's power to prevent the formation of enamel-destroying acids in the mouth and to kill off bacteria always found in cases of active decay.

In research for the last five years with Dr. Kesel were Drs. Joseph F. O'Donnell, Edward C. Wach and Ernest R. Kirch. They were awarded the dental society's annual $500 research essay prize.

Dr. Kesel, head of the college's department of materia medica and therapeutics, explained that he and two former students had served as subjects in the research.

Hollywood

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Feb. 13 — (AP)— Treatment of war neurosis with Chopin, DeBussy and Gershwin—that's Jose Iturbi's contribution to the post-war effort.

The beneficial effects of music on neurotic combat veterans is not to be overestimated but Iturbi said doctors have told him that his piano playing often has a soothing, and sometimes remedial effects on his taut-nerve listeners. Moods, tones and tempos of the music often release restrained emotions of the boys, he explained, and in some cases, that is all that is needed.

After one concert before a group of neurosis cases", he related, "I noticed that one of the boys was weeping violently. The doctor, however, seemed pleased. 'Don't worry', he said to me, 'that boy will be well in a few days'."

"Sometimes I don't even receive applause", he said, "for many of the listeners are both neurosis cases and amuptees. The war is far from over for these boys". With that in mind, he is spending much of his free time in the service hospitals. He sometimes plays for seven hours straight.

Latest Hollywood organization is a group of 20th Century-Fox actresses who call themselves "The Bachelor Girls". President of the sorority, I'm told, is June Haver, and members include Faye Marlowe, Cathy Downs Nancy Guild and Evelyn Haver, June's sister. Peggy Cummins is one of the new pledges.

By-laws of the group call for less night clubs and more moonlight rides, fewer elopements and more church weddings. Their motto is Kipling's, "He Travels Fastest Who Travels Alone". I'll bet the members will show no remorse when they resign from the organization.

Philadelphia Rides Again

Transit service for Philadelphia's three million daily riders was resumed after being halted for 48 hours by a strike of 9,900 CIO employes of the Philadelphia Transportation company. The strikers approved an agreement reached by union and management officials which will give them, among other things, a general wage increase of 12 cents an hour and a "preferential" union shop. They had demanded an hourly pay raise of 25 cents.

As the labor picture brightened somewhat by the end of the transit and power workers walkout, news from Detroit in the General Motors strike was not cheerful.

GM Offer Rejected

Wage negotiations between the corporation and the CIO United Auto Workers ended abruptly after the union rejected a GM offer of an 18½ cents hourly wage hike for the 175,000 employes on strike since last Nov. 21. The union held fast to its previous demands of a 19½ cents an hour boost, the amount recommended by a presidential fact-finding board, and reinstatement of a union contract which General Motors ended in December.

As the negotiations broke up, UAW Vice President Walter Reuther said the union would not resume discussions until the company was ready to offer at least one cent more. Meanwhile, a scheduled resumption of the National Labor Relations Board hearing on CIO Auto Workers charges that General Motors Corp. had failed to bargain in good faith with the union was suddenly postponed this morning.

There was no immediate explanation of the postponement but the action gave rise to reports that another meeting of the management and union on the wage and contract issues was being arranged.

Other Developments

In other developments on the labor front, Alexander Eltman, attorney for several affiliates of the Independent National Federation of Telephone Workers, said in New York that heads of NFTW unions would decide Monday on a strike call. If issued, Eltman said, the country's telephone toll service would be tied up and local phone service shut down in 21 states.

The threatened walkout, he said, would involve 75,000 members and would be in support of some 17,000 striking Western Electric employes, members of a federation affiliate, and in support of the NFTW's demands for a $2 daily wage boost.

ASKS FOR ARMED PICKETS

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 13—(AP)—The International Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen & Enginemen will ask that its pickets on the strikebound Toledo, Peoria & Western railroad be deputized and armed, a union spokesman said, unless police protection is provided around the clock.

Reporting an exchange of telegrams with Governor Green, W. C. Keiser, vice president of the brotherhood, said last night he had asked the governor for "police protection 24 hours a day or that guards (of the railroad) be disarmed."

The brotherhood official said he had called Green's attention to withdrawal of a state police car "three or four nights ago" from a lane leading to the T. P. & W. plant in East Peoria and that he would ask the sheriff of Tazewell county to deputize 20 to 25 pickets if the car were not returned.

Request to Sullivan

Green replied in a telegram, Keiser said, that the union request for "police protection for peaceful picketing" had been referred to T. P. Sullivan, director of the state department of public safety, for "prompt attention."

Last Saturday, George P. McNear, Jr., president of the road, asked the governor "to use the power of the state to preserve order so that our employes who wish to perform essential public service may do so."

Keiser, in his telegram yesterday, said the union's pickets "are not going to stand out there like clay pigeons to be blasted down as were the men of the Gridley massacre."

He referred to two pickets who were killed and three who were wounded last Wednesday in a clash with railroad guards near the T. P. & W. right-of-way. Four railroad guards were being held on murder charges in connection with the deaths.

result of opposition in the senate, Ross said "not to my knowledge".

He gave the same reply to questions whether Pauley had asked the withdrawal of his nomination. Truman has said he would not withdraw the nomination.

Ickes' last news conference as interior secretary did nothing to detract him from his long-time reputation for fast repartee.

Special Press Conference

Accompanied by Mrs. Ickes, the 71-year-old cabinet member walked into the interior department auditorium after a crowd of some 300 had forced transfer of the "special press conference" from his conference room to the larger quarters.

He read excepts from his letter of resignation to Truman, then submitted to questioning. Some of the results:

Asked whether there are "any possibility" of his accepting another job under Truman, Ickes replied:

"As great a possibility as being offered one".

Asked about his future plans, Ickes said: "I ain't got none".

"Are you going to be a columnist?" he was asked.

"I've been propositioned", was the reply.

Chapman, who takes over the affairs of the interior department as acting secretary, is a 49-year-old Coloradan, long identified politically as a liberal.

Assistant 13 Years

Chapman has been an assistant interior secretary 13 years. This is the longest tenure of any member of the so-called "little cabinet."

A native of Omega, Halifax county, Va., Chapmean served in the Navy in the first World War and went to Denver to recuperate after being invalided out of service. He has long been identified with Colorado politics.

In the last Roosevelt presidential campaign, Chapman served as his campaign manager in the western states.

In the last Democratic national convention, Chapman led the Colorado delegation in its support of Henry A. Wallace for the vice-presidential nomination. Truman won the nomination.

After Franklin D. Roosevelt's first election as president, Chapman was appointed assistant secretary of the interior in 1933. He then was 36 years old, the "baby" of the little cabinet.

Chapman is regarded as close to retiring Secretary Ickes.

In the candlelighted Baptist church in Downers Grove, Ill., Joyce Elaine Purdy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Purdy and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Miller and E. A. Purdy of Amboy, became the bride of GM 2/c Harold Curtis McMahon, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McMahan of Downers Grove, Friday, Feb. 8, at 8 p. m. The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Hamilton Sinclair amidst a garden of palms and colorful flowers, following a prelude of soft organ music provided by Miss Wilma Downing, who also accompanied Miss Aggie Lou Johnson singing, "At Dawning," "Tell Me Why" and "Because."

The bride was lovely in a white satin wedding gown with a sweetheart neckline, accenting a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Her finger tip veil was carefully held in place with a tiara of seed pearls. Her white bouquet of carnations, gladiolus and budlia was set off by a corsage of gardenias in the center.

Jean Purdy, maid of honor, wore a white satin and net floor length dress and Ardene, both sisters of the bride, wore a white marquisette gown and both had halos of yellow daisies in their hair. They carried bouquets of pink carnations, oriental iris and yellow daisies.

Carl McMahan, brother of the groom, was best man and F 2/c Fred Curtis was an attendant.

The bride's mother wore a black and white ensemble with a corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother wore a fushia colored dress with a corsage of oriental iris.

Following the ceremony approximately one hundred friends and relatives of the young couple were guests at a reception held in the home of the bride's parents at 835 Chicago avenue.

The couple graduated from Downers Grove high school together.

Those who attended the wedding from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. Clem Miller, Mr. E. A. Purdy and Mrs. Gladys Gross who drove to Downers Grove Friday evening. Mrs. Ivan Witner was also an out of town guest.

The newlyweds left for a few days in Chicago, expecting to leave about Feb. 13, for Long Beach, Cal., where Harold is stationed aboard the cruiser U. S. S St. Paul. They expect to reside there until he is discharged from the navy in the near future.

Dixon Relief Corps Hears Talk on Africa

Kenneth Abbott, recently discharged from the army, gave a talk to the Dixon Woman's Relief Corps at the meeting held Monday afternoon in the G.A.R. hall.

Mr. Abbott revealed many interesting and amusing adventures of his travels through Africa.

He displayed his collection of souvenirs, which included many articles of handicraft of the natives and told of the crude tools used in the making of them.

In the collection were a number of snake skins, articles of leather, woven cloth and baskets. When stationed in Egypt he obtained metal articles which showed the fine workmanship of the Egyptians.

During the business session which preceded Mr. Abbott's talk, three applications for membership were read and committees were appointed for the year.

A contribution was given to the executive board of the department for the "Thanksgiving Fund".

Mrs. Katherine White, hospital chairman, announced that a sewing meeting would be held at her home Feb. 19, with a picnic dinner at noon.

Several members reported distributing clothing, also a piano was given to a children's home.

The next meeting of the corps on Feb. 25, will be a social meeting with a program commemorating Washington's birthday, and a birthday party for all the members, who will contribute a penny for each year of their age.

Valentine's Day Has Interesting Story

Valentine's Day, with its personal appeal to lovers everywhere, finds many a feminine head all agog with anticipation. Will the man-in-her-life send her the Valentine she has dreamed about—the one which is sweetly significant?

Any smart girl knows she can expect that valentine only if she keeps herself attractive, and she also knows that lovely hair is one of her best attention getters. But lovely hair doesn't just happen. It is the result of careful brushing, frequent shampooing and skillful hairdressing. The girl who regularly uses a conditioning liquid shampoo will have lustrous hair which would rate a valentine compliment from many admirers, particularly from that special one.

Yes, Valentine's Day is a good time to remember that charm must be cultivated to keep true lovers happy.

In St. Valentine's time it was much more difficult than that. There were more things than neglected charm to keep lovers apart. And the good saint's memory inspires acts of devotion today because in his own time he fought for the right of lovers to be together. Here is his story:

In the days of the Emperor Claudius, all Rome was shocked by a sudden decree forbidding marriages. The Emperor ruled that married men, loath to leave their families, made poor soldiers; hence the decree. However, there was a gentle priest named Valentine, who was much distressed by this edict and who informed all the perplexed young lovers that he would marry them secretly. It was inevitable that the Emperor should discover his disobedience and punish Valentine. Imprisonment and death was the lot of this friend of lovers. But Valentine was made a saint, and the day of his death, Feb. 14, set apart as the day when all the young people of Rome might do him honor.

This custom of honoring the lovers' saint is one which has retained a firm hold on people everywhere, as shop windows full of lacy valentines and bright red hearts wear witness. And certainly many a lonely soldier or sailor, opening an envelope to find a loving valentine greeting from someone at home, will be warmed and heartened even if he never knew why St. Valentine's Day was set aside as the day for all true lovers.

Prizes went to Mrs. Earnest Hecker, Mrs. Clarence Strub, and Mrs. Ralph Cox.

The afternoon was spent playing "whoopee" and refreshments were served before the guests departed.

A centerpiece of sweet peas with pink and blue tapers decorated the lovely table.

Guests included; Mrs. Clarence Strub, Mrs. Eldon Potter, Mrs. Earnest Hecker, Mrs. J. D. Brantner, Mrs. Ralph Cox, Mrs. George Nicklaus, Mrs. Ronald Potter, the hostesses and the honoree.

Beautiful Wedding Takes Place Sunday in Sterling Church

Several hundred guests witnessed a double ring ceremony at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Sterling Christian church which united the lives of Miss Alice Mae Fine, daughter of the Earl Fines of 308 Sixth avenue, and Lawrence E. Reaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Reaver of Prairieville. The service was read by the Rev. Louis Chamberlain, minister of the church.

An arrangement of all white flowers, palms, ferns and candelabra with white tapers formed the background for the exchange of vows. Pews were marked with white bows and ferns. Jack C. Jaquet and Clyde L. Wentling served as ushers.

The church organist, Mrs. Charles Van Gilder, played a 15 minute prelude of organ music. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. C. Layton Nunemaker sang. "O Promise Me" and "At Dawning."

The bride approached the altar with her father. She was lovely in a wedding gown of brocaded satin taffeta, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, three - quarter length sleeves ending in a point, fitted bodice and full skirt. Her finger-tip veil was lace edged and fell from a tiara embroidered in crystals. The brides bouquet was white carnations centered by a corsage of white roses. She wore the bridegroom's gift, a gold bracelet.

Mrs. Jack Jaquet was matron of honor for her sister, and was attired in a gown of blue net with a white brocaded satin bodice. She wore a shoulder length veil of blue net, and carried a bouquet of pastelcolored flowers. The maid of honor was Miss Marian Reaver, sister of the bridegroom. Her pink net gown with a white bodice and shoulder veil were in the same style as worn by the matron of honor and she carried an identical bouquet in pastel colors. Little Clyde Emory Wentling, the ring bearer, wore a white suit and a pink carnation boutonniere. He carried the rings on a white taffeta pillow edged in satin.

As the bride and her attendants reached the altar they were met by the bridegroom and his cousin, Edward L. Cornils, best man, and the officiating clergyman. The bridegrom had a rose from the bride's bouquet in the lapel of his coat.

The bride's mother wore a purple dress embroidered in purple sequins and a flower hat. Her corsage was of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother chose a dress of ashes of roses with black accessories. In her corsage were white roses.

Reception in Parlors

Following the ceremony a reception was held for the guests in the church parlors. The table was centered with the bride's cake and lighted with white tapers in crystal candelabra.

Miss Lura Fine, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Clyde L. Wentling poured. The refreshments were in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. John Frickleton, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kosier. The serving was done by Mrs. Paul Smith and Miss Mildred McFalls of Sterling, Miss Gladys Lahman of Nelson, Mrs. Arnold Lubbs of New Bedford, Jean Smith of Prairieville, niece of the bridegroom, and Marcia Talbot of Oak Park, the bride's cousin. They wore white carnations in their hair. The wedding cake was cut by Miss Kathryn Reaver and served by Mrs. Walter Smith, sisters of the bridegroom, who also wore white carnations.

Recordings were playing during the reception by Miss Vera Lahman of Nelson. Miss Myra Fine, aunt of the bride, was the reception hostess and Mrs. Jerome Robbins, also the bride's aunt, had charge of the guest book.

The bride attended the University of Iowa and the Scovill schools. She is now employed in the office of the Prince Castle Mfg. division.

Mr. Reaver attended Sterling high school and has been engaged in farming with his father. He is now employed by the Ward McGinnis Co., in Dixon.

Leave on Honeymoon

When the bridal couple left for a short honeymoon the new Mrs. Reaver was wearing a black gabardine suit with white blouse and black accessories. She also wore the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

After their return the couple will be at home in an apartment which they have furnished at 406 Broadway.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Talbot and Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Talbot and daughter Marcia Ann of Oak Park; Leland Myers of Chicago; Mrs. Albert Cornils, Misses Ruth and Gertrude Cornils and Mrs. C. Layton Nunemaker of Dixon; Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Jaquet of Geneseo; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lubbs of New Bedford; Miss Ruth Hill of Chadwick; Miss Marcella Detig of Rockford, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. A Thought for Today

A fool also is full of words; a man cannot tell what shall be; and what shall be after him, who can tell him?—Ecclesiastes 10:14.

Young men think old men are fools; but old men know young men are fools,—Chapman.

The Senate Has

Some of our senators seem to have taken a frightened attitude toward Secretary of State Byrnes' revelation that Russia was secretly promised the Kurile Islands and the southern half of Sakhalin at the Yalta Conference a year ago.

They are in a stew over the possibility that we may have to take an international trusteeship in strategic Pacific islands, which we won from the Japs at great expenditure of blood and money, while Russia gets complete control of a chain of islands which she never fought for, and as reward for only a few days' participation in the Japanese war.

The United Press credits Senator Johnson of Colorado with having said, in effect, that it's too bad the deal for the Kuriles was kept secret, but that there is nothing to do now but abide by it.

Certainly the senators, jealous of their treaty-making rights, know that such an agreement is not irrevocable. The disposal of Japanese possessions is the business of a formal peace treaty. And our agreement to any treaty must have the approval of the senate.

One of the secret agreements made at Yalta is already in effect. That is the promise that Russia should have three votes in the United Nations Organization—a promise ferreted out by the Washington staff of a New York newspaper after Mr. Roosevelt had said there were no secret political deals at Yalta. It was fulfilled, of course, by granting the Ukrainian and Byelorussian S. S. R.'s the status of independent states at San Francisco.

But the matter of the Kuriles is different and more important. Obviously Mr. Roosevelt could not have made a flat promise of them, because he had no power to do so. And since Mr. Truman had no part in it, the promise seems further weakened now that he is president. In any event, the senate is the final boss.

There seems to be no reason why the United States could not make an open deal at a peace conference for what she needs, in exchange for Russian possession of the Kuriles. There is little danger of a trusteeship being forced upon us, since the United Nations Charter states that the UNO will supervise and administer under an international trusteeship system" such territories as may be placed thereunder by subsequent individual agreements."

This country has an indisputable right to the strongest voice in any subsequent agreement disposing of Pacific territories which its forces fought for and won alone. That isn't imperialism. It is simply that no one else has any valid claim to outshout us in these matters.

Fair Enough

by Westbrook Pegler

(Copyright 1946, by King Features Syndicate)

Driving home from work the other evening, George Spelvin, American, picked up a thumber who noticed Spelvin's paper on the seat between them and said: "I don't see how you can read that dirty smear sheet, nothing but lies about President Roosevelt and his wonderful help-meet and always trying to smear labor and every day they publish those hate articles by that louse, Pegler. And if a man stoops so low-down that he can't let our great president rest in his grave after he gave his life for the common man, why does he wait until he is dead and can't defend himself and any decent man and not even a rat wouldn't smear their worst enemy after they are dead".

"What lies about Roosevelt?" Spelvin asked.

"Nothing but low-down, cowardly smears about how he helped his boy Elliott get out of debt like any decent father would and about how his grandmother left them a million dollars from smuggling opium into China and our gracious First Lady she profiteered by teaching us on the radio how to be tolerant and always smearing the working man," the thumber said.

"Were those lies about how Roosevelt got Jesse Jones to square Elliott's debts and then he got back the collateral by telling the suckers it wasn't worth a dam and then the old man, personally, sent it to Elliott's wife to square the alimony rap and it turns out to be worth $250,000," Spelvin asked.

"Why didn't he do it when Roosevelt was alive?" the guy asked. "Nobody but a rat would smear a dead man when they can't answer back."

"Maybe he didn't know the facts until he died", Spelvin argued. "But anyway, why didn't Elliott defend him instead of admitting it was all true when the treasury got after him and if you know it is all a pack of lies why don't you defend him and if it was my old man they smeared in his grave you can bet your sweet life I would show them up if it was all just nothing but a pack of lies but if it was true, I guess I would change the subject".

"Not when the victim is dead and can't answer back", the thumber insisted, "and of all the low-down louse-rats whey even a louse-rat has respect for the dead and here he is doing Hitler's work and—".

"What about Hitler?" Spelvin asked. "Him and Mussolini, what about them, and Goebbels, too?"

"What do you mean, what about those low-down louse-rats, the dirty—".

"But", Spelvin said, "they're dead, ain't they, and they can't answer back and here you go, smearing them in their graves—".

"You aren't comparing our great leader with those dirty—,"

"I'm just asking how you stand on whether you are supposed to keep your mouth shut because a guy is dead or whether you just mean because it's Roosevelt whereas I fell for the guy the first time and cheered like a fool when he was going to give the money-changers the bum's rush and then we find out he and his wife and Jimmy and Elliott were grabbing dough with both hands and the old man knocks off a stamp collection and it cost him peanuts and now it is worth $100,000 to the estate and I just wonder how you are going to learn anything about history if you say Hitler was a great guy just because he is dead".

"Who said Hitler was a great guy?" the thumber yelled.

"Well", Spelvin said, " What about Harding and Coolidge, because they are dead, too, and I don't suppose you would want to smear them in their graves although it seems to be like I have read a lot of new dealers always talk about the Ohio gang and old Harry Daugherty was the head man of that bunch and with Coolidge it is always that he busted the police strike in Boston and he was nothing but a Wall Street tool and—".

"Well, if you are so crazy about that crooked bunch from Ohio and you think Coolidge was so swell, why don't you defend them?" The thumber asked, "and the reason is it is all true".

"But Harding died in office", Spelvin said, "so I was wondering if that means he gave his life for the people like Roosevelt or the one just croaked while your guy died of natural causes but he was a martyr".

"I can see you have been doped by hate—propaganda", the guy said, "after we just fought a terrible war to abolish hate".

"Roosevelt was a pretty fair hater, himself, I always thought", Spelvin said, "and it seems to me like you do a good job hating this Pegler because—".

"Because he is always knocking the working man", the guy yelled. "About how all unions are rackets and all the rich people are right guys".

"Well, those union crooks ain't dead", Spelvin said, "and a lot of them are in the can so why don't you prove they aren't racketeers and, anyway, I never noticed where the guy said all unions are rackets and I never knew him boosting rich people or anybody else, much, but a picket brushed me with a brick, today, and, brother, tomorrow I am going to carry my own brick because picket or no picket, no dirty brown shirt is going to bust me with a brick".

"I get off here", the thumber said.

"You are dam well tooting you do", said George Spelvin, American.

DOUGLAS R. COVERT
(Contributed)

Douglas Ralph Covert, son of Ralph and Nellie Covert, was born August 13, 1919, at Dixon, Ill. He attended elementary and high school in Dixon, and was graduated from Illinois Wesleyan university at Bloomington, Ill., in 1942.

Douglas was united in marriage on July 2, 1942, to Wilma Stanley of Crossville, Ill. A son, Gary Ralph, was born of this union on July 28, 1945.

He enlisted in the reserve corps June 8, 1942, and reported for active duty Jan. 6, 1943, and was discharged from the service January 28, 1946.

"Doug" was a loving son and devoted husband. He was never too busy to help someone else along the way, and was noted for his cheerfulness and smiles for which everyone will always remember him.

Douglas was called to rest on Feb. 5, 1946. He is mourned by many friends and relatives. Those surviving him are his wife, Wilma; his son, Gary; his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Covert, and his sister, Gracia.

The funeral service Friday afternoon was conducted by Rev. William E. Thompson of the Brethren church, of which Doug was a member.

Interment was at the Oakwood cemetery at Dixon, Ill.

I cannot say and I will not say
That he is dead—he is just away!
With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land,
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there.
And you—O, you, who the wildest yearn
For the old-time step and the glad return.
Think of him faring on, as dear
In the love of There as the love of Here;
Think of him still as the same, I say:
He is not dead—he is just away!
—James Whitcomb Riley.

WHEN my Miss Jenny suddenly realized we none of us knew where the twins were and let out her frightened gasp, Mr. Willson said, "Steady, Mother." He never called her "mother" except in moments of great stress. "That will all be straightened out in due time." Mr. Willson's own voice was so steady that you had confidence in what he said. "There are other things to be done now. Uncle Andrew," he turned to Dru, "and you, too, Dru, get hold of Tyson at the mill, tell him what has happened, have him transfer the picnic to the club house. He'll know how to handle things. Dru, you call the caterer, use the 'phone in the farmer's house, we'll need this one here, and Uncle Andrew, you round up the men on the farm, put a couple down at the rock gardens to keep people away and post a couple in the driveways with instructions not to let any one through except on business." He looked at Miss Jenny and added sharply, "Betsy, take your mother upstairs and make her lie down. I'll call the doctor."

Only Fletch and I were left in the room.

He was sitting on a straight chair near the window, sort of hunched over, running his hands through his hair. He dropped his hands loosely between his knees, and looked at me, "I married her, Nana."

There was so much in that simple statement. It said: "I thought I loved this woman once for all my life. I promised to comfort, to honor her. I promised to love and to cherish. I lived with her. She bore my children. I brought her into a family of which she could never be a part. Now she is dead—too young."

"I know, Fletcher," I answered. "You did the best you could under the circumstances."

He said, "I wonder."

My reply was sharp. "Don't, Fletch. You can't torture yourself now by thinking things would have gone differently if you had done this, or done that at a certain time."

I know the tortuous maze in which you can live if you try to refigure the past, and the turnings you made. I didn't want Fletcher starting on that path.

Nothing more was said. We just sat there and waited.

MR. WILLSON didn't come back until Dr. Bertolette came. The doctor made a cursory examination of Phillipa and then straightening up, said, "What in the name of God was she doing on the cliff in the rock garden, Steve?"

Mr. Willson, Fletch and I looked at one another astounded. None of us had thought to question how Phillipa had died. Mr. Willson lost some of his assurance. "On the cliff in the rock garden," he repeated puzzled.

"Of course." Dr. Bertolette's voice was impatient. "How else would she be at the base of it, smashed up so completely." He started toward the doorway. "I must call the coroner."

"The coroner?" Mr. Willson repeated.

"It's a formality, Steve. Sudden death."

So then we sat and waited for the coroner.

He seemed a nice young man, named Smith, and not at all what I had expected. He acknowledged very politely the introduction which Dr. Bertolette made and listened quietly to Dr. Bertolette's description of Phillipa's injuries. When he spoke, he sounded just like an ordinary business man.

"Instant death, Doctor?"

Dr. Bertolette nodded. "Not a doubt of it."

He turned to us, "Any idea of how she came to fall off that cliff?"

* * *

I WANTED to correct him as I used to correct Fletch and Betsy, "She didn't come to fall off. She came for another reason." But the young coroner took all irrelevant thoughts from my mind in a way that left me numb, for he said, "Or who pushed her?" He didn't give us a chance to answer, which was just as well. None of us were capable of it. "Where's your phone?" he asked. I nodded toward the morning room. "I'll have to call the D. A."

Even Mr. Willson didn't seem able to grasp that, for it was Fletch who finally asked, "Why?"

"Why?" Smith looked at him and I didn't like the way he did it. "Sudden death. Suspicious circumstances. I have to call the district attorney." Coroner Smith, I could see, was a trifle exasperated. "Your wife met her death by a fall from a cliff—must be 80 feet if it's an inch." He went off at a tangent for a moment. "Always wanted to try climbing it when I was a kid." He went back to his coroner's voice quickly. "Now, when did it happen? What was she doing there? How did she get there?" With each question his voice was a little more supercilious. "Can you answer those questions? Well, I can't either, so we call the D. A." I expected him to say "See?" the way officers of the law do in moving pictures. But it seemed that when any of us reached the point where we could think, something else was said that scattered our thinking matter as the wind would scatter a handful of old dry leaves. "And while I'm calling him, you people might think up a good reason for having moved that body."

He went as far as the doorway, and stopping looked at us carefully. "We always call the D. A.," he said, "when it looks like murder."

O'Neill Sees Tigers as Team for Yankees, Red Sox to Beat

Cleveland, Feb. 13—(AP)—Steve O'Neill, manager of the world champion Detroit Tigers, declared today that despite stiff competition from the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox, his Bengals would be the "team to beat" in a hot American league race this year.

The Irish pilot also predicted the Cleveland Indians, spearheaded by a pitching staff topped by Bob Feller, would be one of the top contenders.

"The Yankees and Red Sox will have power to burn this year with Ted Williams, Joe and Dominic Dimaggio, Tex Hughson, Tommy Henrich and others back in the fold—but the Tigers should be a match for any of them", O'Neill asserted.

The Detroit manager said the Tigers' regular outfield—Dick Wakefield, Pat Mullin and Barney McCoskey—would "rank with the best in the major leagues" and declared Detroit had been strengthened in other important positions.

Detroit's probable starting lineup in defense of its title was listed by O'Neill as Wakefield, Mullin and McCoskey, outfield; Hank Greenberg, first base; Ed Mayo, second; Eddie Lake, obtained from the Red Sox in a trade for Rudy York, shortstop; Pinky Higgins, third base, and George (Birdie) Tebbets, catcher.

"If Higgins and Tebbets are not released from the service this year, the third base job will be wide open. We'll have some good catching with Paul Richards and Bob Swift back and Harvey Riebe out of the service".

The Indians also should be "darned tough" this year, O'Neill declared ,adding that "when a team has a pitching staff headed by Bob Feller, Steve Gromek, Allie Reynolds and Red Embree x x it's ready to make its move right now".

Another Giant Tops College Point Race

New York, Feb. 13—(AP)—A seven foot, one inch giant with a mouth-filling name to go with his height—Elmore Morgenthaler of New Mexico Mines—is the new leader at 458 points in the national collegiate individual basketball scoring race.

The 23-year-old star from Amarillo, Tex., went on a 95-point scoring spree in four games last week to vault from fourth place to first. He replaced Bill Hall, of Marshall, who rimmed 32 points in two games, but fell to second at 450.

George Mikan, of DePaul, the early season leader before Hall went to the front, corralled 44 points in two games, but slipped from second to fourth at 422 as Fred Lewis, of Eastern Kentucky, collected 50 points in three games to take over third place at 425.

This weeks leading scorers as reported to the Associated Press.

Lee Center Cagers Face Busy Week in Advance of Tourney

(Telegraph Special Service)

Lee Center Feb. 13—The Lee Center basketball team will close its court season here Friday night, entertaining the Cherry Valley team coached by Ted Blaser, formerly coach of the Lee Center squad.

Ashton visits Lee Center for a game tonight which was moved up one week because of the opening of the District tournament.

In District tournament play at Franklin Grove, Lee Center faces West Brooklyn's quintet Tuesday night. Cherry beat the Lee Center reserves Friday, 35 to 27, but the Lee Center varsity won over Harmon, 72 to 25 with the Grade team dumping Harmon's Grade quintet 35 to 15, before losing to St. Mary's of Dixon, 24 to 19. St. Mary's will be featured in a return game Friday.

Utah formerly was spelled Yuta, Youta, Eutaw, and Utaw.

Polo and Oregon Gain Hoop Wins; Amboy Is Loser

Court action in this area was heavy last night with five games carded featuring Polo, Morrison, Mount Carroll, Amboy and Oregon of the Rock River conference and DeKalb of the NCIC circle.

Polo's basketball team kept its winning stride last night, whipping Forreston, 27 to 19, at Forreston. Edward Raley was the scoring leader of the evening getting nine points for the winners.

Morrison's Rock River conference leaders also won, decisioning Fulton high's quintet, 54 to 42, at Morrison for their 18th straight victory with a heavy third period attack that netted 26 points.

Mount Carroll played host to Savanna and won 44 to 38, with Miles netting 16 points for the victors, and in the only conference engagement of the evening, Oregon's Hawks dropped Amboy in a 38 to 32 tussle. Hollewell pumped in 13 points for Oregon, while Dick Dominetta was top man for Amboy with 10 points.

Sycamore slowed DeKalb's Barbs last night, defeating them at DeKalb, 42 to 38 in a wild overtime match. Jerry Hannon led the DeKalb attack with 15 points. DeKalb was in front until the final three seconds of the fourth quarter, when Sycamore came through to tie it at 35-all and send the game into an overtime.

Lincoln Drops Reds; Robinson Wins Again

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 13—(AP)—East St. Louis' high school basketball team dropped its fourth of 28 games last night, bowing 43-35 to Collinsville in a Southwestern conference feature.

Decatur's state champions, who had won their last seven starts, were stopped by Lincoln, 51-49. It was Lincoln's 13th victory compared with seven defeats.

Robinson beat Sullivan, Ind., 44-40 for its 20th victory against two losses, both to Indiana teams. Paris bagged its 25th triumph, 52-24, from Oakwood, and Kewanee won its 18th with a 67-47 conquest of Canton.

Walnut Downs Ohio in Close Tilt, 42-39

Sparked by Carpenter's 16 points and 11 by Stiver, Walnut defeated Ohio at Walnut last night 42 to 39, to even their season's series in a close battle. King garnered 17 markers for the losers.

Walnut jumped into a four-point lead in the opening quarter and held to their advantage, leading, 24 to 22, at half-time and 32 to 31 at the start of the final period.

Willie Hoppe Enjoys Lead Over Schaefer

Chicago, Feb. 13—(AP)—Willie Hoppe, erstwhile "boy wonder" of billiards, today held a 200-185 lead over veteran Jake Schaefer as the two former world champions moved into the fifth and sixth blocks of their 1,000-point three-cushion match here.

Hoppe won the third block yesterday, 50-43, despite Schaefer's high runs of 12 and eight, and the evening block, 50-45. Schaefer had a high run of five in the evening block, while Hoppe had four runs of four.

Ramblers, Panthers Top Boy's Club Play

Basketball action among teams of the Dixon Boys club moved into the second week of activity Monday, with the Ramblers and the Panthers emerging victorious at the South Central gym.

The Ramblers dumped the Hiawathans, 20 to 17, with R. Kelly's 10 points as the high mark for the battle. Steve Christ led the Panthers to a 29 to 7 win over the Dukes in the other event, tallying 16 points.

Pottery making is one of the oldest form of human industry.

Practice Makes Perfect, as Max Morris Believes

Chicago, Feb. 13—(AP)—In the opinion of Max Morris, Northwestern's basketball star who won the Big Ten scoring title with 189 points last year and is out in front again this year, dropping the ball through that hoop is no trick—if you've had enough practice.

Morris should know. He's been playing basketball since he was a fifth grader at West Frankfort, Ill., more than ten years ago. The all-around athlete, twice an all-Big Ten end in football and last year all-Big Ten basketball center has scored 117 points in nine Big Ten games, for an average of 16.3 points. In 16 games the Wildcats have played, he has scored 272 points.

Last Friday he broke his all-time scoring mark, scoring 30 points as Northwestern defeated Minnesota. The next night he added 19 against Wisconsin, to break the strangle-hold Bob Doster, Illinois freshman, had held on the conference scoring title all season. He now leads Doster by 11 points.

Behind Morris and Doster in the official scoring figures are forward Bob Cook of Wisconsin with 131 points, and Paul Hoffman, Purdue forward, with 125 points. Doster has a 15-1 point average, Cook 14.6 and Hoffman 12.5.

Sports Revive as New York Ban Is Ended by Mayor

New York, Feb. 13—(AP)—New York's thriving sports business, momentarily staggered by Mayor William O'Dwyer's shutdown order, returned to normalcy today following the lifting of the 18-hour ban on places of amusement.

The major sports casualty of the short-lived edict was the 70th annual Westminster Kennel club dog show which had attracted 2,599 prize pooches from all over the nation for its two-day stand in Madison Square Garden. Unable to gather the fanciers together to put the program into motion last night, the WKC officials decided to telescope the whole affair into one grand session starting at 8 a. m., today.

None of last night's shows were cancelled outright and two of them —New York Golden Gloves semi-finals and the Pennsylvania-Columbia Eastern Intercollegiate league basketball tilt—will be staged tonight.

Track Meet Moved

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 13—(AP)—A dual track meet between Ohio State and Illinois, which was scheduled to be held Saturday in Purdue's fieldhouse at Lafayette, Ind., has been transferred here, Coach Leo Johnson said today. Johnson said the meet would have conflicted with another Purdue had scheduled.

John J. Draney, Consolidated Vultee engineer, advocates use of exhaust gases, conducted to leading edges of airplane wings, as a de-icing agent. It also will serve to de-ice propeller hubs, he asserts.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Feb. 13—(AP)—Although the major leagues officially approved Commissioner Happy Chandler's baseball promotion department at their recent meetings here, Happy won't get the $50,000 to run it until he presents a comprehensive plan that is approved . . . The minors have to give them okay, too since they're putting up $12,500 of the dough . . One story is that Chandler told the club owners he would need six months to work up such a presentation . . . The recent Minnesota-Iowa basketball game at Iowa City outdrew the football clash between the same schools by 14,400 to 13,800 . . . Headline: "Outstanding Boxer Out of Westminster Show" . . . Suppose the dogs didn't want to make Mike Jacobs' Garden shows suffer too much by contrast.

MAKING BOTH ENDS MEET

The Bonneville County Sportsmen's association of the Upper Snake River valley in Idaho will hold its annual jamboree at Idaho Falls Friday and Saturday . . . The piece de resistance will be a meat loaf made from a moose and a half, bought from the state game commission after confiscation from poachers, plus a bit of beef and pork to make it large enough to feed 4,000 persons . . . the big loafers!

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Boston sports scribes are almost unanimous in blasting B. A. A. officials for the sprint fiasco in Saturday's track meet and Director Des Wentworth apparently didn't help much when he tried to disqualify Eddie Conwell for a speedy start after he had reinstated Barney Ewell and Harb Thompson . . . The Dodgers, with 58 pitchers in their Sanford, Fla., camp, also have a pitching machine on hand . . . Don Barksdale, now playing for Camp Ross, Calif., has tallied 760 points in 30 games so far.

Eddleman Gets 18 Points; Sheridan Five Loses 76-43

Normal, Ill., Feb. 13—(AP)—A long-shot field goal in the last five seconds of play that tied the count at 46-46 and sent the game into an overtime period paved the way last night for a 51-50 victory for Illinois State Normal's basketball team over Illinois Wesleyan. Loud Baker tossed in the game-tying goal after Wesleyan, trailing 28-27 at the half, had taken the lead. Normal's Tom Galvin and Wesleyan's Hank Bennett, both centers, shared scoring honors with 15 points each.

Philadelphia, Feb. 13—(AP)—Bob Cherry, former University of Illinois center, yesterday signed a contract to play next fall for the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football league.

Centralia, Ill., Feb. 13—(AP)—Ft. Sheridan's basketball team, one of the highest scoring clubs of the nation, lost its second game in 26 starts here last night to Wright Field of Dayton, O., 76 to 43. Dwight Eddleman, former all-time Illinois high school scoring champion and former University of Illinois player, scored 18 points before a crowd of more than 3,000 home town fans, but had to surrender scoring honors to teammate Bruce Hale, who tallied 24.

Rockford, Ill., Feb. 13—(AP)—Camp Grant's soldiers dropped a 68-59 decision to Loras college of Dubuque, Ia., in a fast, tight basketball game here last night.

Care of Citrus Starts with Pickers

FLORIDA citrus fruit receives the most careful handling from the time it is snipped from the branches in the groves until it reaches the market. Here pickers are shown at work in a grove, packing the fruit into crates from their aprons: the fruit is then trucked to packing plants, where it is thoroughly inspected, washed and packed according to size. The Dixon Fruit Company are receiving Hammock Brand Oranges packed by the Lake Region Packing Association from Tavares, Florida. Under the supervision of Mr J. B. Prevatt, who has been associated with the citrus industry for many years. They take pride in the fact to give their distributors the finest pack fruit under Hammock label.

FINN HOMAGE TO LENIN

Helsinki, —(AP)—A Lenin museum has been opened in Tampere, Finland, at the place where Lenin and Stalin met for the first time in December, 1905, at a Russian social democratic party meeting which was held there in secret. The city of Tampere financed the museum and the state will continue to support it with an annual fund of 300,000 Finnmarks.

ARCHAEOLOGICAL FIND

Smithsonian Institution scientists unearthed, in Arizona and New Mexico, ruins of American Indian tribes thought to have lived between 1800 and 500 B. C. Large "nests" were found that had been used as beds.

Sorry Now

Ogden, Utah — (AP)—De Mar Manwaring, 36, bet a friend that he could swallow a gold fish. He did—but it put him in a hospital.

Lodged in Manwaring's larnyx, the fish hampered breathing and an immediate operation was necessary. Dr. Dale H. Smith said the fish was four inches long and an inch and a half in diameter.

Day By Day On the Air

by

C. E. BUTTERFIELD

(Central Standard Time)

New York, Feb. 13—(AP)—A minor detail of New York City's shutdown due to the tug boat strike and resultant fuel famine was the disposition of radio audience and audience participation shows. The four major networks dispensed with audiences immediately and moved programs from theaters into small studios to conserve heat. In the case of "Participation", ABC moved shows to Newark, N. J., and broadcast from there.

NBC eliminated the sight audience angle in "Honeymoon in New York", the only show on the network thus affected; CBS trimmed "Sing Along" in very much the same way.

MBS substituted a musical show for "The Better Half", which is entirely dependent upon participation audience.

While New York worries about heat, the University of Chicago Round Table is getting data on "The World Food Crisis—What Should America Do?" for Sunday's 12:30 broadcast on NBC.

Foreign Briefs

Yenan, Feb. 13—(AP)—An epidemic of spinal meningitis, fatal to nine Chinese, was reported under control today in this Chinese communistic capital. Dr. Li Chi-Chung of the Bethune Memorial Peace hospital, said 38 cases were treated since Jan. 7. No members of the U. S. Army observer group were stricken.

Shanghai, Feb. 13 — (AP) — Farmers in the devastated areas of South and Central China are to be given seed and fertilizers under instructions issued today by the Chinese Relief and Rehabilitation Administration as part of a relief plan costing 2,000,000,000, Chinese dollars ($1,000,000) monthly.

Tokyo, Feb. 13—(AP) —Allied headquarters rebuked the Japanese government today for permitting unsanitary conditions in repatriation reception centers. A directive ordered the government to correct conditions at six centers, at which specific abuses were listed.

Tokyo, Feb. 13 — (AP) — Empress Nagako talked informally today with 50 normal (high) school girls who were "surprised to find her real human. We always regarded the empress as a mythical figure".

The girl volunteers were cleaning up around a burned building in the imperial palace grounds when the empress appeared. She startled the girls by inquiring about their food and living conditions.

The awed students kept their eyes on the ground.

Cairo, Feb. 13—(AP) — Two students were reported killed in clashes with police today at Zagazig 40 miles north of here, as anti-British student demonstrations which began five days ago spread to other cities.

Hong Kong, Feb. 13—(AP)—Dispatches from Macao reported today that Foo Tak-Yam, wealthy gambling king of that Portuguese colony, was kidnaped Saturday as he worshipped at a Chinese temple.

Police said Foo and his chauffeur were abducted by eight Chinese who were believed to have driven to the waterfront in Foo's own car and whisked him away by boat.

EARTH'S AGE ESTIMATE

By studying the leakage of helium from rock materials on the earth, geologists are clearing up many uncertainties in their estimates of the age of this planet. Many geologists now estimate the earth's age at 3,000,000,000 years.

Hawaii lies about 2,100 miles southwest of San Francisco and approximately 3,400 miles east of Yokohama.
